President's Message

As president of the Women's Service League of Union Hospital, I would like to welcome you to the fifth Designers Showhouse. We hope you will enjoy seeing the beautiful decor of this home which has been a landmark in Terre Haute for many years.

On behalf of the members of the Women's Service League I would like to thank the many people who have contributed to the success of our project, the owners of the house, the designers and their sponsors, the advertisers, the donors, and the public who have come to view the results of many hours of labor. Without the support of these people or the league membership we would be unable to undertake such a vast project.

All proceeds from the year 1980-81 have gone to purchase a Real Time Echocardiographic System for Union Hospital. This reflects all non-profit community projects sponsored by the Women's Service League of Union Hospital, during this time period. Proceeds totaling $20,000.00 raised by the 1979 Designers Showhouse purchased an Acute Kidney Dialysis Unit and cardiac monitoring equipment.

Thank You,
Jane F. Kosofsky
(Mrs. Arnold J. Kosofsky)

"THE HUDSON HOUSE"
507 South Sixth Street
1871-1981

An Indiana Victorian Italianate villa, cherished for its timeless quality, the Colonel Hudson 1871 house, has been selected for the 1981 Designers Show House. It was regarded in the 1870's as one of Terre Haute's most handsome mansions. Indeed the label still applies today as it is well preserved as part of America's past history.

Classic details of this popular 19th Century architecture are arresting. The changes with age have not detracted from the basic beauty of this fine home. Built over a century ago of brick and stone . . . high ceilinged . . . six period marble fireplaces . . . walnut parquet floors . . . a beautifully proportioned double door front entrance featuring a semi-circular transom and a classical Ionic portico giving the expression of a big welcome. Narrow rounded arched windows . . . exuberant pillars with fine cornices . . . tower . . . are overall whimsical charm of this distinctive home.

Col. Robert N. Hudson, was the son of Edward H. and Gatha (Henderson) Hudson, born in Brookville, Indiana on the 9th day of November 1820. He came to Terre Haute in 1840 and was graduated from Asbury University (DePauw) in 1844. Col. Hudson achieved his ultimate goal as an attorney, became owner-editor and publsiher of the three local newspapers from 1856 until his retirement from journalism in 1875. He was a very prominent citizen, businessman and civic leader, nationally and locally for many years. Col. Hudson organized the 133rd reg. Indiana Inf., while serving in the Civil War. He will best be remembered for his leadership and contribution toward the development of our city and state. Col. Hudson married Mary Villars Shaw of Vincennes in 1864, and to this union five children were born. Following the War, the Colonel and Mrs. Hudson had the elegant mansion, built by S. T. Reese on the corner of Sixth and Oak Streets, previously purchased by the Colonel in 1863.

Col. Hudson's ancestors were descents from an old stock of sea captains in England. They settled in Maryland with a "Hudson Grant" about 1670. The grant from England was a large parcel of land, twelve miles square, granted the family for services rendered the government in the Navy and Merchant Marines. The grant was held intact until Edward sold his part and came westward to Kentucky and on to Indiana where he settled. The Hudson men were all military men and highly honored gentlemen instrumental in the settling and development of the States.

The home was bought in 1882 before Col. Hudson's death in 1889, by Thomas Johns, a wealthy lumber man, known as the "Walnut King of the West". Other owners were Benjamin G. Cox, a partner of Hul-man & Co., who purchased the home in 1891 at public auction. In 1918, Alfred M. Ogle a local coal operator, bought the home, when the Ogle family left Terre Haute the home was purchased by Paul N. Bogart in 1923, he was a local banker. The large mansion was always bursting and bubbly with activities as a family dwelling.

In 1931, the Woman's Department Club purchased the home from Mr. Paul Bogart, which fullfilled a dream they never felt possible. The Club proceeded with remodeling and redecorating making it adaptable as a clubhouse and has been proudly cared for by the present owners.

The Club graciously loaned the clubhouse and grounds to the Women's Service League of Union Hospital for their philanthropic project.

Entryway

Designed by:
Ruby Stableton
Stableton's
Ornamental Iron

On entering the grounds to Designers Showhouse from 6th St. as you go up the steps are hanging pots, on either side of steps, filled with hanging plants and vines from railings. Coming up to the wide entrance steps area pair of Grecian urns filled with geranium plants, beautiful and symbolizing elegant and luxurious living - on the porch are (9) nine capped brick posts with same Grecian urns filled with lovely plants. On the lovely L-shaped porch will be a table and four chairs and 2 seating arrangements containing 2 chairs, a bench and coffee table. These are all long lasting, beautiful, new oak pattern in aluminum. Functional, decorative and versatile for effortless upkeep and lasting beauty. These are all finished in black to blend well with the home and landscape and offer you a welcome invite.

2.

Foyer

Designed By:
Kay Bauer ASID
Gregg Risley
Kay's Interiors &
Risley Furniture

Are you ever stumped on ideas for the foyer to try and tie together two rooms without making the space appear choppy? All one needs to do is choose a wallcovering that blends with a color mutually used in both rooms, as we have here. The mauve color achieves an effect or warmth and elegance that would make any guest feel delighted upon entering your home.

Living Room

Designed By:
Kay Bauer ASID

Kay's Interiors
1722 So. 7th St.
Terre Haute, IN 47802

Living in the 1980's requires a comfortable atmosphere in the home, rather than the formal elegance we've known of the early 1900's. This is achieved through color and space planning. For color - navy, mauve, and green accomplish a warm and relaxed feeling. Whereas the multi-purpose room; used for conversation, reading, games, and music; is centrally located for the important aspect of entertaining in our homes.

Creativity is an effect we all must execute by mixing furniture styles. This vision is aesthetically appealing and fun to achieve by giving us more freedom when purchasing items for our homes. The 1980's does not have a "set style" for design, but whatever effect you wish to be in your home should be planned with careful consideration towards space planning, comfort, taste, and creativity.

The sitting room is a place to read, converse, and relax. This room was created to fulfill these needs. Notice the large tapestry pillows on the sofas and the gentle elegance of combining country French, rural English, and Oriental. The accent color of azalea adds that special touch.

The large curio cabinet provides a focal point for the room with the main conversation area being built around the cabinet. From serving tea to quiet relaxation, this sitting room in soft color tones serves many needs.

Join us for dinner in a formal, but relaxing atmosphere. The oriental blossoms in the wallpaper bring a breath of spring into this room. The windows are dressed in sheer clouds of peach to enhance their natural design. A dusty apricot area rug banded with a cream border accents the antique dining table as well as the bay area. Acients of peach and blue make dining a delight.

The Butler's Pantry -- much more than a walkway between the kitchen and dining room -- conveniently stores and displays what's needed in both rooms. Deep blue paper sprinkled with coral forget-me-nots cover the walls. Open cupboards show off casual dinnerware in brown and coral. This is the perfect place for entertaining supplies, from ice buckets to cheese boards.

This kitchen is a gourmet's delight! There's plenty of work space on the island with the butcher block top. The matching table has chairs upholstered with fabric which coordinates with the ceiling wallpaper. The creamy background of the wallcovering sets off flowers and leaves and vines mingling together for an old-fashioned mix of soft and gentle colors. Continental valances top mini blinds at the windows. Copper and stainless cookware, along with bright coral cannisters, make this a pleasant work area.

In this small space were closeted utilitarian items used in the performing of every day activities such as cleaning, setting table, making beds, and a place to hang hats and coats for marketing. Thus the vacuum sweeper, grandmother's quilts, Claire's doll house and dolls, the cane and umbrella.

The antique quilts and other objects stored in the closet accent the pale walls.

We may be small in this big house, but we still need space of our own. Where, with our companions, we can sit and play and allow our imaginations to roam.

We draw our pictures, sip our tea, and try on mother's dresses. We spin our tales, laugh in gales and love to beribbon our tresses.

When the day ends we put things away and close the closet doors tight;

Remembering the fun and the secrets we shared as we slumber in to the night.

The drama of ancient China is translated into a 20th century environment through a subtle blend of traditional and contemporary objects. Modern furniture upholstered in chintz and velvet is complemented by the rich textures of the oriental pieces of tortoise shell bamboo, ebony and burled woods, and bevealed glass. Architectural features of the room have been painted in a dramatic play of light and dark, yet in an overall palette of soft colors, ivory, pale blue, and peach, adds the necessary touch of calm and serenity.

The game room has been designed to provide a soft interlude in the vast spaces of the house, where an intimate group might get together for cards, chess or backgammon. The physical peculiarities of the space are reduced by the tented ceiling and fan, while the fabric wall serves to return the window to the wall's center. The dimensional qualities of the papered walls together with the use of mirrors extend the walls; thus a room originally taller than long or wide is shortened and extended to provide an intimate and warm environment for relaxation.

Brass, mirror and wood are utilized to help neutralize the extensive use of fabric.

Metal Agility

Designed By:
Meg de Mougin

Windove Creations
2900 Wabash Avenue
Terre Haute, Indiana

Bronze, brass, copper, silver, and gold gifts of the earth are richly used in the handcreated metal work by Meg de Mougin.

The metalsmith, more than any other artist, is challenged by ideas and techniques that have remained virtually unchanged for centuries. Timeless examples of work from every age are testament that loving hands have touched and given life to the metal form, and once created, will endure.

With that vast heritage an artist may create a raised chalice of brass, silver, and inlaid tiger wood with an exquisite balance of the traditional. One may cast a realistic creche in solid bronze, shining with the promise of the season it honors. The metalsmith may fabricate a primitive ceremonial snuff container with metal and horn, an etched kaleidoscope, a magnifying glass with antler handle, or a music box with a bronze leaping deer.

So versatile is the medium, it can be used to design a lovely ring or neck array, a contemporary evening bag, an unusual sconce, or embellished chess pieces and board for the connoisseur.

Together these objects become a showcase gallery designed to display creative metal agility.

The wicker furniture you'll see here has been a part of this reading room for many years. Restoration of the lovely old pieces was first on our list of priorities.

Pastel tones of Raspberry, Toast, and Jamestown Blue in an Asian floral print set the scene for the soft cushions on the wicker and for the drapery. Complimentary mini-prints are used generously.

For that "Finishing Touch" . . . framed art, good lighting, and plenty of good reading material . . . now you're ready to relax with that second cup of coffee and a good book.

The Apartment

Designed By:
Alexander J. Darbutt II
Steve Lewis

Sears, Roebuck & Co.

In the manner of producing our own quasi-fictional version of history, but in our choice of furniture and decoration, there is never the least desire to shock or show off.

We have created a feeling where objects seem to float amid the luminosity of the apartment. Where traditional furniture mingles harmoniously with modern art. Even the one or two pieces of grandeur add up to little more than unusual coziness.

We believe that a house should be a reflection of the person who lives in it.

This small south-west bedroom was designed with a young sophisticate in mind. Inspiration came with a new collection of "Garden Party" fabrics printed on cotton duck; wild plum and ivy green the predominating colors. The trellis wallcovering on the ceiling adds to the garden feeling of the area. The single bed is a custom design. Accents include touches of chrome, lucite and mirror. "Intime" may best describe the look of this room.

Patio and Garden

Designed By:
Harold N. Timmer

Bunch Nursery

As a family residence, the Garden Area would be accessible from the Morning Room. From here, the owner at breakfast would look out upon and enjoy the beauty and quiet of the small, but carefully detailed garden space. Stepping out through the double doors onto a small formal terrace, one would capture a sense of the size and grandeur of this beautiful home. This mood would be accentuated with flowering plants providing a perfect setting for conversation with family and friends or for afternoon tea. To the right, as you step through a small garden onto a large wood deck, you experience a feeling of comfort and openness. Container gardening is possible here and the color reinforces the spaciousness and relaxing atmosphere of this area and it also functions for larger events or numbers of people.

From the deck, step down onto a lower brick patio that is enclosed by a raised planter and that highlights a beautiful antique fountain and pool. In this area of "created privacy" conversation and meditation is possible amidst the disctinctive charm and elegance of the entire garden. A stepping stone path leads from the garden toward the front of the house, but conversely, also invites participation in the garden from that area.

"Undivided Responsibility"

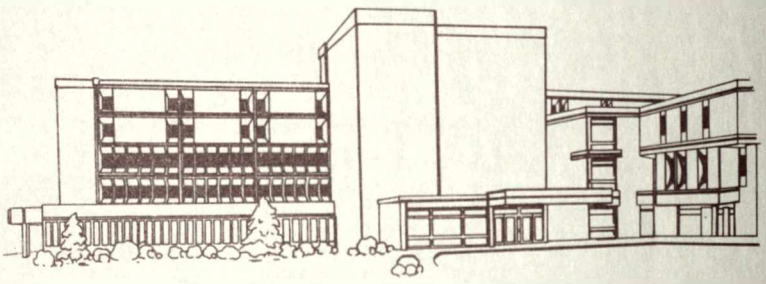

To Our Advertisers,

We are mindful of the very important part these advertisers have played in making possible this program. Your patronage of the many advertiser friends of Union Hospital Women's Service League is earnestly requested. We regret the omission of any names received to date for printing.

To Our Anonymous Donors,

Whose substantial but unpublished gifts have meant much to the financial success of our activities. Their unselfish support will long be remembered & appreciated.

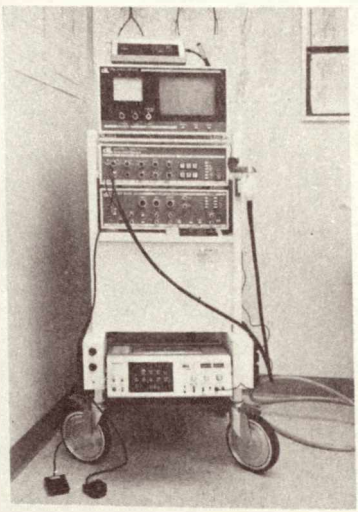

Again we say "Thank You".

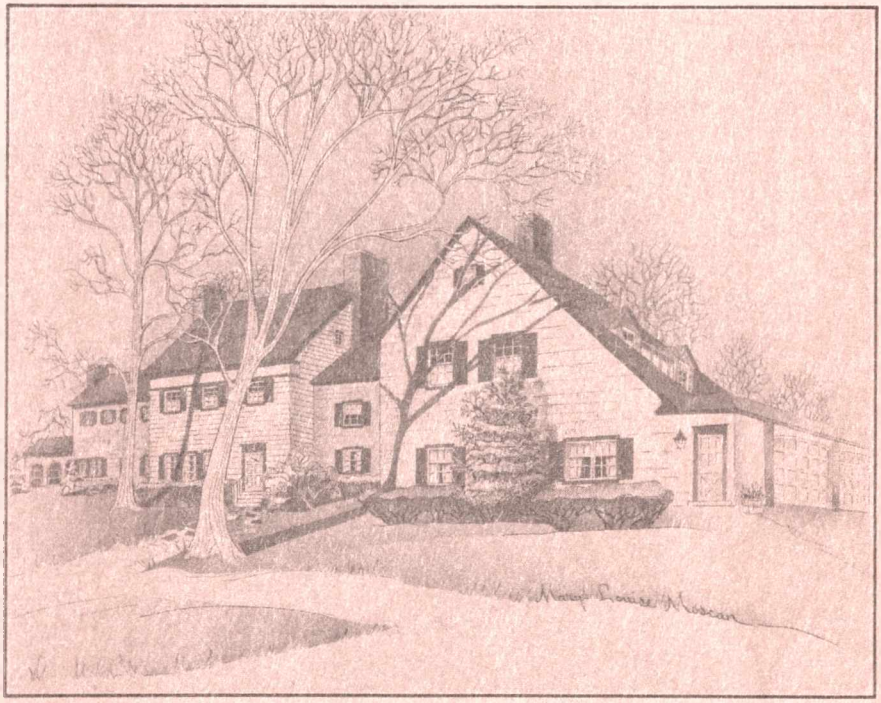

Thank you for attending our 1981 Designers Show House. We are grateful for your support in our effort to provide furnishings and equipment for the Realtime Electrocardiographic system.

We especially want to thank the many businesses and designers who made our Show House possible. All decorating expenses are borne by these people so that proceeds may go to support our benefit.

Many hours and ingenious ideas are donated by these talented people, and we hope you will patronize them for decorating advice. Feel free to contact any of the designers or businesses concerning the purchase of any items in the rooms.

History of the House

140 Hamilton Drive
Deming Woods Subdivision
Terre Haute, Indiana

SERVICE LEAGUE OF UNION HOSPITAL, INC. DESIGNERS SHOW HOUSE - 1985

This spectacular "rambling farm house" on a hillside setting in Deming Woods was built by Norman Liebbert in 1934-35 for Clarence J. and Gertrude Freeman. Miller and Yeager Architects of Terre Haute, tailored the home specifically after one in Princeton, New Jersey. 1985 represents the "50" anniversary of this lovely home.

The uniqueness of this home is immediately apparent upon arrival at its colonial entrance with its four large columns facing north, the back of the home is actually facing the 140 Hamilton Drive view. Once inside the entry hall, you are greeted by a graceful staircase and a beautiful slate floor. You will enjoy the lovely ornate ceiling molding in the entry, living room, and dining room. The family room boasts a ceiling of true artistic talent, with its sculpture-like floral effect. A view from the living room, facing north toward a lovely wooded area in Deming Park, gives a restful picture of Deming Park pond with its charming ducks. The first floor also includes maid's room, laundry room, and porch.

The second floor will reveal four bedrooms, including one master bedroom, two children's bedrooms, and one guest bedroom. There is also a den and game room, as well as four bathrooms.

There are approximately twenty-five rooms or areas, rich with history and personality, to delight you on this tour. Features of interest include five bedrooms, seven bathrooms, six fireplaces, three stairways, four chimneys (which still bear the imprint of the original "F" for Freeman), three car garage, circular driveway, gazebo in the front yard, as well as a total of sixty-five windows.

The property is part of the land granted in 1816 by James Madison, President of the United States, to Jacob Lane, a private in the Corps of Canadian Volunteers. The land was purchased by Demas Deming, Sr. in 1827. The Deming Land Company, formed in 1901, began selling lots in the 72 acre Deming Woods Subdivision in 1930.

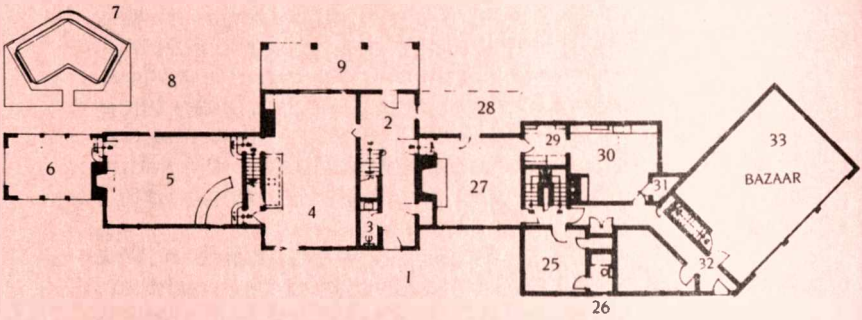

After the Freemans resided in the home, George F. Johnson, founder and president of Chesty Foods, and his wife, Marion D., purchased it in 1945. Along with their three children, they lived in this residence for eighteen years and made significant changes in the home. These changes included the living room as it is today, one large room with the big picture window, rather than two smaller rooms as had previously been constructed. The family room bar was added and the oak boards became a permanent fixture of the family room walls. The Johnsons made the conversion from coal to oil heat.

James M. and Annie S. Kelly bought the home in 1963 and with their six children, lived in it only eighteen months. Theta Kappa, Inc., a chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity at Rose Polytechnic Institute bought the house from the Kellys in 1965, but, due to legal problems and zoning restrictions they were forced to sell. Professor Calvin R. Dyer and his wife Margaret B. subsequently bought the home in 1972 and lived in it with their four children. The Dyers made the conversion from oil to gas heat. In 1980 they sold part of the land on the property and new construction has taken place.

The present owners, John P. and Sharon L. Woelfle purchased the home, including four acres and a pond, in 1983. The Woelfle's and their three children, who attend DeVaney School and West Vigo Elementary School, have graciously lent their home for the Seventh Designers Show House.

President's Message

Welcome to the Seventh Designers' Show House. We are certain you will find your self-guided tour through this elegant home a delightful experience.

For thirty-two years, the Service League members have given their time and talents to provide numerous services for patients, their families and friends. In addition to operating the hospital's Gift Shop and staffing the Surgical Hostess Desk, the Service League sponsors special activities throughout the year to raise funds for the hospital.

Proceeds from the Designer's Show House in 1983 enabled the Service League to give Union Hospital a total of $19,980 to be used to equip the Radiology Department's new trauma room of the hospital's Phase IV expansion. This year the proceeds will again be designated to the Radiology Department to purchase a mobile x-ray unit.

The chairmen of the 1985 Designers' Show House, Mrs. Thomas Clary and Mrs. Arnold Kosofsky, and the members of the Service League join me in thanking all the people who have contributed to the success of this project. We especially thank each of you for coming and your continued support of this worthwhile project.

As one approaches the hillside setting for this rambling farm house, the drive leads one to the actual rear entrance. By virture of use and accessability, this drive has become the main entrance to this grand house.

Our design intent was to visually accentuate this entrance and create a focal point for arriving families and friends. It was also important that this entrance area offer a place for greeting guests in the style that the home reflects.

The entrance area was expanded not only to solve a problem created by the tree's extensive root system and canopy of foliage, but to give it a sense of scale that makes this area visually more appealling. The garden wall that surrounds the entrance terrace offers enclosure and intimacy. It also allows this area to serve not only as an area for greeting guests but a setting for casual entertaining or quiet relaxation.

The surrounding planting viewed as one approaches the entrance combines a use of plants that enhances the simplicity of this home and frames the entrance with a feeling of warmth and hospitality. By the use of a variety of plants, the garden planting softens the foundation lines and brings together a seasonal array of form, texture and color. The terrace and garden plantings gives one a sense of separation from the expansive lawn yet allows one participation in the overall beauty of this home.

Encased in a traditional setting the entrance becomes a subtle transition between the exterior and the interior. Warm soft colors accent the space while providing an appealing and inviting atmosphere.

Architectural elements become a key feature of this space. The traditional molding which encompasses the ceiling creates enhancement to the space. Attention seems to be immediately drawn to the beautiful oak staircase surrounded by a unique wall of reversed raised panels. these details, combined with a touch of nature, encourage a feeling of comfort and tranquility.

114-118 South Main Street Greg Risley
Telephone: (812) 735-2016 - (812) 886-4845
Bicknell, Indiana

Risleys produces "Country Charm" in the new and exciting colors of peach, pink, mauve and colonial blue. Several national companies have created this stimulating country color scheme. The new country color decor is being featured in Better Homes and Garden magazine this spring.

Please notice on stepping into the room the contrast of dark walls and the soft subtle shades and color tones. Country, always charming, has now made the scene a splendid array of color in casual woven fabrics.

The major conversation area, which is clustered around the fireplace, uses delicate scaled furniture to enhance the soft color tones. the sofa has a graceful curved back enhanced by oak trim and the ruffled pillows sport the same fabric as the wing chairs with Chippendale oak legs - a new look for a traditional winner. The lighter oak used for trim on sofa and chairs is carried out in the collection of cut-out stencil aproned tables.

Notice also the blend of fabric weaves and types to add "homey" to a graceful design. The soft plaid sofa produces each shade to be carried through the room to lighten and enhance walls, floor and sculptured ceiling. There is even a winged recliner in the new homespun fabric and the braided area rug brings in all the colors.

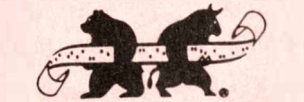

The stand up bar is presented with the new country painted accessories and the table for two is set with Pfaltzgraf's pattern to produce the color scheme again.

The shadow box walls accented with paper are filled with memorabilia and shelves of unusual design to enhance heirlooms (new and old alike). Eyelet shades, which are 98% energy efficient, complete the decor.

Enjoy the Terre Haute Show House!

designed by:
Janice McConkey, A.S.I.D.

This porch makes an inviting space to spend a summer evening next to the swimming pool. The wicker swing filled with comfortable and interesting pillows provides an excellent view of the pool area.

The arched windows have a garden like appearance with lattice trim accented with flowering vines.

This garden theme is continued throughout this area via the use of numerous plants, flowers and a fresh vegetable centerpiece located on the long skirted table.

Pool Area

Custom Pools
1536 Maple Avenue
Terre Haute, Indiana

designed by:
Mike Dason

This pool was designed to reflect the families personal needs and to enhance the homes unique architecture. The landscaping and placement were chosen to blend with the natural surroundings.

An unusual feature of this pool includes a shallow upper pool cascading into the main pool. Another way to enjoy this waterfall is by sitting in the recessed Loveseat located in the main pool beneath the falls.

The pool not only offers length to allow for swimming, but includes a large shallow area for water games and a diving board for the young at heart.

The pool terrace is designed to integrate the striking pool form into the overall context of the site. Strong sweeping lines blend the rear terrace with the pool deck and rolling contours of the rear yard. Two large existing trees anchor the west end of the composition while a brick detailed terrace addition terminates the east. The eastern terrace addition interlocks around the existing brick terrace projecting the space into the rear yard. Future access from the screen porch will establish a strong relationship between the terrace and the interior dining spaces. The terrace extensions are designed to blend with the existing terrace providing additional mass to balance the new pool. The terrace is sufficient to provide for elegant entertaining on a grand scale yet broken into areas that accomodate more intimate socializing. Low limestone drywalls to the entry landscape at the front door to the terrace. Professional designed outdoor lighting system spots the mood for evening entertaining or a late swim. The east terrace provides a retreat for adults when the kids enjoy the pool, perhaps a little too loudyly. The "dramatic playstructure" from creative playgrounds adds recreation options in the yard, sturdy enough for young and old alike.

Planting areas emphasize low maintenance selections to minimize upkeep. Repetition of plant varieties throughout the design unites the widespreading poolside terrace. Key specimen dogwoods have been transplanted from elsewhere on the site to provide immediate garden impact. A specimen Red Jade Weeping Crab adjacent to the brick detailed steps echoes the weeping form of the flowering cherry near the upper pool and waterful. Environmental art by sculptor Charles Gibson adds refined detail to the garden reflecting the grace of the cascading branches of two weeping plant forms. Extensive use of evergreen ground cover pulls the garden together while providing opportunities for seasonal color; tulips and daffodils in the spring followed by hostas, miniature and standard daylilies and other late spring and early summer flowering perennials followed by fall chrysanthamums. The custom designed fence provides a foil for summer flowering vines including clematis. Bittersweet and fleeceflower.

Lee Ann Pittman A.S.I.D.

This upstairs hall with its 12 foot width was a prime candidate for our custom wall unit or library cabinets. the soft patina of cherry wood was chosen for these units to be displayed in this elegant and traditional home. The custom seating unit in the corner allows for quiet reading spot in an otherwise useless area. The center section of the wall units allows for desk work surface with an upholstered bench matching the corner seating, and drapery fabric. this entire upper hall was dramatized with the addition of natural looking silk foliage and silk trees. The design adaptation of the upstairs hall would be a utilitarian compliment to any home.

The deep rich tones of burgundy and green combine to create an inviting room in which to work or relax. The casual and harmonious blend of styles creates an effect reminiscent of an English country manor. The traditional roll-top desk, contemporary sofa, provincial huntboard, and country accessories are tied together by the common theme of "The Hunt" and the overall color scheme. The ecclectric style provides additional depth and warmth which is often missing with other styles.

Victorian charm and a touch of country lend a unique ambience to the master retreat.

Jewel tones of teal and raspberry are featured in wall and window treatments, echoed by antique accessories and underscored with a custom designed area rug.

The focal point in the room is a turn of the century fireplace and panelled wall recently installed by The Woodworks and Mr. and Mrs. Woelfle. The room arrangement takes its cue from this architectural point of interest.

designed by: Caitlin Gahan-Hunter A.S.I.D. Assoc.

Functionalism is essential in every environment. This bathroom did not have any storage so a custom vanity was built to replace a wall hung sink and create storage space. Another consideration in design is continuity which is achieved here by repetition of color in the wallpaper, woodwork, floor and window treatment. This artistic dimension of this room is expressed through mirrors. The mirrors in the bathtub area imitate the wallpaper creating excitement and expanding the room visually.

Closet

Heidi's Hideaway
102 Ohio Street
Rockville, Indiana 47872

designed by:
Ron, Ruth Ann and Heidi Dodson

Queen Victoria in her reign would have appreciated this small corner of the home. Potpourri fills the air from pomanders hanging throughout the closet. A reproduction baby carriage sits afore the opening of the closet filled with porcelain dolls. Love and amity are felt by just looking into this small private corner with its mauves, rosey pinks and ice blues.

After seeing this small closet Christmas will be far from one's mind until seeing our hall "Christmas Remembered". In this hall with its collection of rocking horses, sleigh bells and Christmas cards, Christmas will be a pleasure all year round. Although this is a Christmas hallway, it can easily be changed to suit any season. The Christmas cards collected by the Woelfle's were custom framed at Heidi's.

Boys' Bath

Charlene Brand Interiors
1335 South 4th
Terre Haute, Indiana

designed by:
Charlene Brand

A bathroom is a bathroom is a bathroom;
A boy is a boy, is a boy;
In this bath the two shall meet!

Everything is at hand — hair dryer, toothpaste, magazines; a pocket for all.

Then there is the tub! Bathing, suntanning, a private phone call, study area or a retreat to enjoy a book.

This bathroom is a bathroom—and a whole lot more for growing boys.

This is a room two young boys can grow up in. Plenty of space for playtime as well as sleeping. Mother will appreciate the sturdy easy care fabrics and wallcovering. Notice the interesting carpet that is also very serviceable and stain resistant. This will let "boys be boys" without constant reminders to "be careful."

When one travels from the boy's room to the guest room it is not via an ordinary hallway. Instead we are treated to a lovely enclosed walkway with a view of the grounds.

Birds outside and inside! The simulated ceramic tile floor is actually a stenciled designed painted on the floor with several coats of polyurethane applied to protect the paint and add to the tile illusion. It is both colorful and practical stince it is easily cleaned with a damp mop.

In order to add color as well as sun protection, the decorator chose stenciled and pierced shades for the windows - which of course can be raised or lowered as needed. Plants and a canvas wall hanging add a homey touch.

Guest Room

The Decor Shop
1021 Hart Street
Vincennes, Indiana 47591

designed by:
Chris Buehlman
Nancy Mullen

Our goal was to create a room that would transmit to any guest the warmth and hospitality of their host and hostess. In doing this we chose to wallpaper the entire room using a light and airy floral design by Louis Nicole. The companion fabric to the wallcovering was used for the duster and throw pillows. We then selected a lovely silk-like mauve fabric for our comforter and balloon shades. We also chose to carpet the hardwood floor in a very subtle blue-gray plus. All of the furnishings used throughout the room are antique pieces that we felt added to the room's unique charm.

Come . . . relax . . . and let the summer breezes blow.

This enclosed verandah is an ideal retreat for early morning breakfast or afternoon tea and your favorite novel. Wonderful summery cotton floral fabric is used throughout on furnishings and in the unique rolled and ribbon tied fabric shades.

The soft yet cool hues draw you deep into the rooms comfortable charm. Colors which are repeated in the pottery of Mary A. Hadley's hand painted "Country" dinnerware which adorns the skirted dining table.

Warmth underfoot is provded by an area rug which comes from the "American Treasure" collection by Karastan.

Finishing touches are added throughout the room in the form of greenery and silk floral arrangements; also with those personal items (such as the old baby carriage and doll) which we all have within our homes.

A touch of country welcomes those who enter into the hallway with its antique memories. Country style teddybears sit aloft wooden shelves filled with country collectables, and among these teddys are hand stitched designs, framed and displayed in various unique ways. Country hats decorated with lace and ribbon draw your attention to the shaker section of the hallway. In the shaker section, Amish dolls in authentic colors are displayed with shaker boxes of all sizes. Above this section, is a shelf which enhances vine baskets filled to the top with babies breath and other preserved flowers.

1985 DESIGNERS SHOW HOUSE PROCEEDS EQUIPMENT TO BE PURCHASED

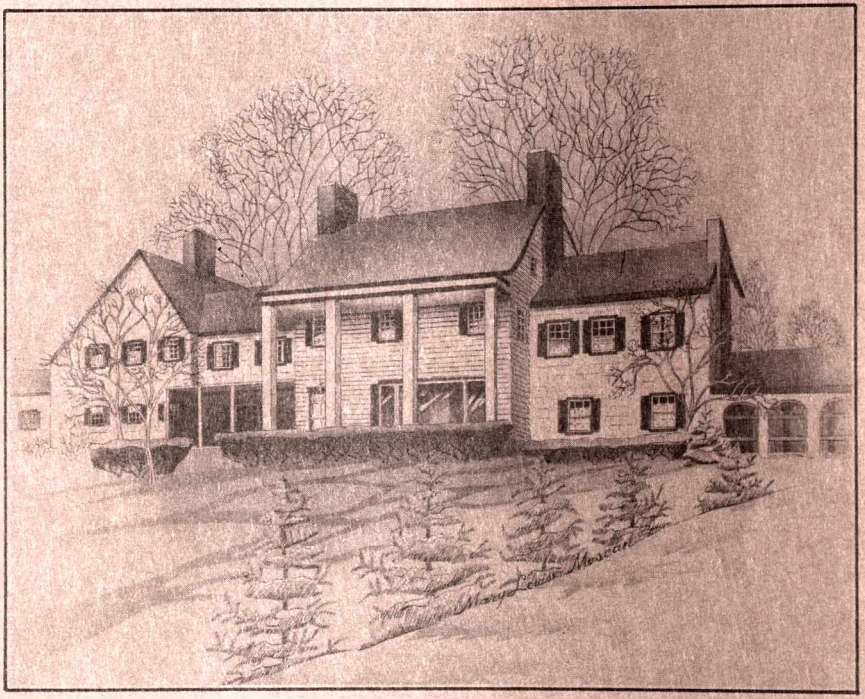

The proceeds from the 1985 Designers Show House will be used to purchase a mobile x-ray unit for Union Hospital.

The mobile x-ray unit is a battery powered unit designed for bedside radiographic examinations. The unit is used in virtually all areas of the hospital but principally in Surgery, Emergency Room, Coronary Care and Intensive Care. The equipment is used when an x-ray is needed but the condition of the patient makes it undesirable to move the patient. The mobile x-ray unit is then brought to the patient's bedside and used.

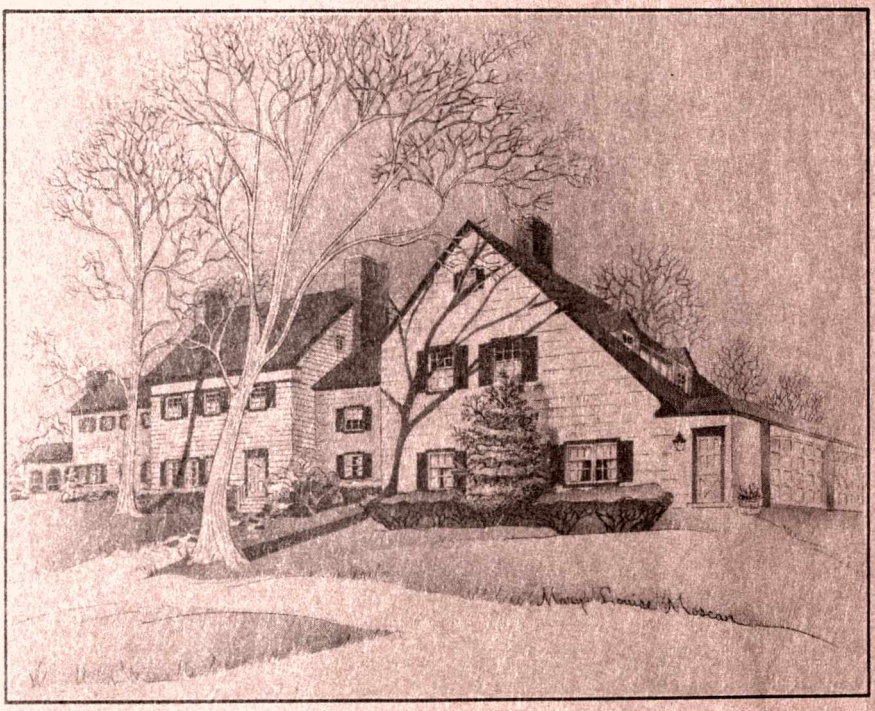

The Hospital does approximately 4,500 mobile x-ray procedures per year, and is in need of replacing an old machine purchased in 1962.

The new mobile x-ray equipment has many advantages over present equipment:

1. The equipment has its own battery pack which powers the drive motor thus eliminating the pulling of the equipment by technologist.
2. The battery pack also operates the x-ray tube, thus eliminating electrical cord runs across hallways, and eliminating difficulty in finding available outlets for electrical services.
3. The unit has two (2) safety features which help to control accidents; the unit produces a beeping sound to alert someone that the unit is moving down the hallway, and the unit has an emergency bumper that stops the unit if it runs into a person or object.
4. The mobile x-ray unit is only 23 inches wide so that it is easily maneuverable in a patient's room or between patient beds.
5. The Tech-Mobile X-ray unit has a remote collimator field light switch that allows the technologist to check the patient's positioning from the main control panel of the unit and this feature is particularly beneficial for pediatric patients.
